

Additional Considerations for Evelyn

Major symbols in Evelyn:

Christ-

Foggy pub glass-

Christmas Day-

The train tracks-

St. Stephens Day-

Day-

Night-

Statue of Joseph-

Angel rays-

Bernadette Beattie's red sweater-

The slippery wall-

St. Jude-

Rugby-

Statue of Justice-

Major Allusion:

Desmond Doyle says that "David beat Goliath in the book I read."

The holy trinity is a precedent because Desmond was raised by his father with the holy trinity as the guiding principles of his Catholic faith with hope, faith, and love.

Article 1 of the Irish Constitution states: "The Irish constitution shall be consistent with the law of G-d."

Article 41 of the Irish Constitution states: "The parent and child have a fundamental and G-d given right to the enjoyment of each other's mutual society."

Article 42 of the Irish Constitution states: "A blameless parent shall not be deprived of his or her right to direct the child's education."