Principal's Message

It is amazing that the month of March is almost upon us! The weather is warming up and we are quickly moving to the end of our school year. Traditionally, this is a time where some students can ease up on their studies in school. Don't forget that parents can access their student schoology accounts to view grades and classroom calendars. Utilizing Schoology can be a helpful tool to keep up on the progress of your student as they move through the school year and stop them from having the dreaded "mid year slump". Please contact your teacher if you need assistance in accessing Schoology or have any questions regarding your student. Have a fun, safe, and healthy weekend!

All the best,
Mr. Daley and Mr. Holmes

District librarians are looking to increase the selection of diverse and inclusive books for students. It is so important for students to not only see themselves represented in books, but to also learn about other's experiences that might be different from their own.

If you would like to donate a book in honor of Black History Month, you can Donate Diverse Books to be distributed to school libraries around the district. Thank you so much for helping foster pride in equity and inclusion!

Counselor Corner

WellnessTogether.org

Dear Parents/Guardians,

Wellness Together is pleased to partner with Granite Oaks Middle School to provide a Virtual Wellness Education presentation to your child's class. Our collection of 20-30 minute presentations are aimed to help kids build healthy habits around self-care, sleep, and connecting with friends and family. Some of these presentations will include activities like deep breathing, relaxation, self-regulation, and learning about stress and emotions.

Presentations are built-out to be age and grade-appropriate or can be tailored to meet the unique needs of your school's students.

We know this is a challenging time for many students and families. We hope these presentations will help support your child's understanding of mental wellness by learning some basic practical tools. If you have any questions or concerns about the material that will be presented to your student, please reach out to the Granite Oaks Middle School Counselors.
